Introduction

Welcome to the Respite Directory for Carers of Older Adults including a Short Breaks Directory for Carers of Adults with a Learning, Sensory or Physical Disability.

Who is a carer?

A carer is “someone of any age whose life is affected by the need to help another person with daily living.”

What are short breaks for carers?

A short break for carers gives the opportunity for carers to have a break from their caring role. This may be for two weeks once a year or for a couple of hours a week, every week, or anything in between.

The Respite Directory is designed to provide a range of information to help carers choose a service. The services included are

- Residential Home and Nursing Home Respite Care
- Day Services, Day Centres, Day Clubs
- Home Respite Care, Domiciliary Care, Care Attendant Schemes, Befriending & Sitting Services
- Social and Activity Groups, Social Clubs, Luncheon Clubs
- Self Help, Support Groups
- Short Breaks
- Holiday Breaks –catering to the disabled in the UK

The Short Breaks Directory is designed as a central reference point for both carers and care workers, showing them what respite services are available in their local areas. It is hoped that this will lead to more carers receiving the type of break from their caring role that they really want and need.

Residential Home and Nursing Home Respite Care

Although residential and nursing care homes are better known as places that older people go to on a permanent basis, many also offer places for respite. This is where the cared for person stays in a residential home for a short period of time which can range from a few days to a few weeks.

Nursing homes provide more specialist care for people who require more help due to a physical or mental condition.

The majority of residential and nursing care homes are privately run businesses, but there are also a small number of local authority run homes. To use residential or nursing home respite services you can either contact the home directly or through Social Services or Health Services, depending on your circumstances.

Many residential homes also run a range of day services.

Aberry House

We are a registered joint nursing and residential care home set in old Aylestone near to Aylestone village. Our home provides a large range of facilities for comfort & security; providing you with peace of mind that your loved ones are cared for. We are registered by the Care Quality Commission to provide care for adults over 65 years old, people who suffer from mental conditions such as dementia or Parkinson's disease among others, physical disabilities & sensory impairments. We always offer a holistic approach to care to everyone who lives with us.

Home Respite Care Schemes / Domiciliary Care Including Care Attendant, Befriending or Sitting Services.

Home Respite Care and Care Attendant Schemes are where a paid carer will come into the cared for persons home. They provide services to meet the persons assessed need, often taking over the responsibilities of a carer. This enables the carer to have a short break from their caring role which they can spend however they wish.

Some of the services that these schemes provide include such things as getting the cared for person up in the morning, putting them to bed at night, shopping, cleaning, fetching pensions, taking them to Doctors appointments etc.

We have also included in this section any Befriending Schemes or Sitting Services, as again these are services that can take place in the cared for persons home enabling the carer to have a short break.

Social and Activity Groups

Throughout Leicester, Leicestershire & Rutland there are many Social and Activity groups running for the carer and / or the cared for.

These groups offer a range of activities, some based around a common interest, some based around a condition or disability.

These groups offer carers the chance to either have a short break whilst the person they care for attends or for the carer to attend and meet with similar people to have fun and socialise.

Included in this section are also luncheon clubs. These provide the cared for person with a hot meal and the chance to socialise with others outside the caring relationship.

The groups and luncheon clubs vary in how often they meet, who they cater for and what they charge.

Self Help & Support Groups

For many carers there is a need not only for respite / short breaks or socialising with other carers but also to try and do as much to help themselves as possible.

This can take the form of joining a support group where they can meet with carers dealing with the same condition or disability to share information and receive moral support.

It may take the form of counselling or befriending for themselves to help them deal with the changes in their lives that taking on a caring role creates.

This section lists organisations that are primarily aimed at giving support to carers rather than the cared for person.

Introduction

This section covers

Short Breaks for Carers of Adults with Learning Disabilities, Sensory Impairment and Physical Disabilities

Who is a carer? A carer is “someone of any age whose life is affected by the need to help another person with daily living.”

What are short breaks? Short breaks are where carers have an opportunity to have a break from their caring role. This may be for two weeks once a year or for a couple of hours every week or for any variation in between.

With this in mind the Short Breaks Section is designed to provide a range of information to help carers take a break.

The Short Breaks Section is designed as a central reference point for both carers and professionals working with carers, showing them what services are available in Leicester, Leicestershire & Rutland. It is hoped that this will lead to more carers receiving the type of short breaks that they really want and need.

Service Descriptions

Day Services

There are a wide range of Day Services available such as Day Centres and Drop-in Clubs.

Some are run once a week, others five days a week. They offer a variety of activities which people can join in, including drop-in clubs, social or therapeutic groups. Some day centres and day services are aimed at specific groups of people i.e. those with a particular disability or those from a specific ethnic group.

Home Respite Care Schemes

Care Attendant Schemes and Home Respite Care Schemes are where a paid carer will come into the cared for person's home. They provide services to meet the person's assessed needs, often taking over the responsibilities of the carer. This enables the carer to access respite time. They can spend this time as they wish, from going out, catching up on housework or sleep.

Some of the services that these schemes provide include such things as getting the cared for person up in the morning, putting them to bed at night, shopping, cleaning, taking them to the doctors' appointments etc.

Sitting Services

Sitting Services are where a paid carer will come into the cared for person's home and spend time with them. This gives the carer the opportunity to have a break from their caring role. They can spend this time in any way they want.

Luncheon Clubs

Luncheon Clubs provide the cared for person with hot meals and the chance to socialise with others outside the caring relationship. There are a wide range of luncheon clubs available and they vary in how often they meet, who they cater for and what they charge.
